Design Capsule: Gen Z fusion

Kurtas with jeans and sneakers, sarees with trainers, oversized fits and co-ords: India's young shoppers mix it all.

Forecut Editorial · 11 October 2026

Mood and colour

Pantone TCX (cotton) codes are the nearest match to the screen colour; confirm against a physical Pantone book and lab dips before production.

Why? Gen Z makes up 40–45% of India's online shoppers and drove almost half of new orders in 2025. They discover styles on social video and buy fast, often through quick commerce.

What? Gen Z mixes ethnic and street: short kurtas over jeans, sarees with sneakers, jackets over lehengas, oversized tees, baggy denim, athleisure co-ords and gender-fluid boxy tailoring.

Who's showing it?

- Gully Labs: Everyday leather sneakers with Indian colour stories
- Payal Pratap and Jubinav: Embroidered jackets and sporty knitwear

How to build the capsule

- Style every ethnic hero piece with sneakers and denim in imagery.
- Launch small, fast drops and watch social signals weekly.
- Make sure products are listed on quick-commerce and marketplace apps.

Range plan

Mix ethnic and streetwear: short kurtas with jeans, sarees with sneakers, jackets over lehengas. Keep prices accessible and use social content to show styling.

- Hero pieces (about 20%): the strongest expression of the story, at higher prices.
- Core pieces (about 60%): easy-to-wear styles in the capsule colours.
- Add-ons (about 20%): accessories and layers that increase basket size.

Selling it in different regions

In India, time the capsule to the festive or summer window it suits. For South Asian communities abroad, link it to local festival dates and weddings. For international customers new to Indian fashion, lead with easy pieces such as shirts, jackets and scarves, and explain the craft.

Common questions
